

Reunion Giving Volunteers

Carrying forward Rice's philanthropic tradition through the reunion class celebration.

Reunion Volunteers Play a Crucial Role

Reunion giving volunteers play an integral role in carrying forward the philanthropic tradition that is a part a reunion class's celebration and mobilize classmates to support Rice's students and faculty with a gift to the Rice Annual Fund. Reunion giving chairs and committee members share the importance of philanthropy, inspire classmates to give toward a meaningful cause, and raise their class's giving totals and participation rates.

Reunion class giving accounts for more than 25 percent of the Rice Annual Fund's yearly fundraising and culminates in a presentation of the class's check during halftime of the Rice Homecoming & Reunion football game.

Get Involved

Consider joining us as a social media ambassador, leadership giving chair, participation chair, college captain, reunion giving committee member or reunion giving chair. Contact the Rice Annual Fund at 713-348-4991 or giving@rice.edu for more information about how you can become an advocate for the Annual Fund during your reunion year.

The Rice Annual Fund

More than 85 percent of alumni who give to Rice do so through the Rice Annual Fund, the university's most powerful vehicle for giving. These unrestricted funds provide support for core priorities and pressing needs, including:

- Undergraduate scholarships and graduate student support.
- Library, classroom and laboratory materials and technology.
- Student organizations, leadership initiatives, intramural sports and the college system.

Reunion class chairs present their class's check to the president during the Homecoming football game.

Reunion Giving Volunteers

Reunion giving committee members' responsibilities include:

- Serving a one-year term, from January 1–December 31, which corresponds with the window for giving to the class reunion gift.
- Making a personal contribution to the Rice Annual Fund in honor of your reunion.
- Asking at least 10 classmates for gifts in honor of your reunion.
- Attending committee training sessions and scheduled conference calls (as available).
- Helping update and gather contact information for classmates.
- Writing thank-you notes to classmates who contribute to the Annual Fund.
- Attending Rice's events in Houston or your city of residence, when possible.
- Celebrating results at homecoming by attending events, receptions and the football game.
- Inviting classmates to attend reunion festivities

Reunion giving chairs' responsibilities include all of the above, plus:

- Providing leadership and direction for the reunion giving project.
- Identifying and recruiting a committee of diverse classmates to contact fellow alumni.
- Participating in the cultivation and solicitation of classmates for leadership gifts.
- Working with the class manager to set both dollar and participation goals and strategies.
- Providing input about solicitation follow-up appeals.
